My Journals gives you: access to full text electronic journals and e-books available to NHS staff, free at the point of use; details of print journals available in your local health library.

You can search for full text journal titles that are available to you using title keywords in the search box. You can search for a title phrase, for keywords at the start of a journal title or for all title keywords.

Use the 'journals starting with' browse to look for titles beginning with that letter and the resulting 'jump to' option to further refine your results.

The 'journal look up' form can be used to generate a link to an individual journal, searching by ISSN, where is it available in full text.

eBooks

If you find you don't have access via your account, contact your local NHS library to discover eBooks available to you from other suppliers.
